

KIMBERLY GREEN LATIN
AMERICAN AND CARIBBEAN
CENTER

US-Caribbean
Relations in Biden
Administration Year 1

Thursday, April 28, 2022
10:00-11:30 am EDT | Online via Zoom

Over the past decade, US engagement with the Caribbean has vacillated between targeted strategies (trade, energy, and environment) and indifference. In this webinar, panelists will examine US policy towards the Caribbean during the first year of the Biden Administration, with a focus on notable issues in need of attention and the opportunity to discuss these issues when the US hosts the Summit of the Americas in June 2022. Panelists will analyze the continuing effects of the global pandemic, opportunities and challenges of the southern Caribbean’s emergence as a key oil producer, the continuing need for cooperation on climate change, effects of anti-money laundering and de-risking policies, the fragility of the Caribbean’s democratic norms, and a new form of global super-power rivalry in the region.

Registration: <https://go.fiu.edu/Caribbean>

This webinar is part of the LACC/CPC Caribbean Policy Series. Email ldudley@fiu.edu for more information.

Presenter:
Sir Ronald Sanders
Ambassador of Antigua and Barbuda to the United States and the Organization of American States

Discussants:
Dr. Samantha S.S. Chaitram
Research Manager, Trinidad and Tobago Police Service (TTPS) and Fellow, Caribbean Policy Consortium

Ms. Jacqueline Charles
Caribbean Correspondent, The Miami Herald

Ambassador Thomas A. Shannon, Jr.
Senior International Policy Advisor, Arnold & Porter

Moderator:
Dr. Georges A. Fauriol
Senior Associate, Center for Strategic & International Studies (CSIS) and Fellow, Caribbean Policy Consortium

Free and open to the public but registration is required.
Co-sponsored by the Caribbean Policy Consortium,
<https://cpccaribbean.org>